

Linda Kahn

SHORT BIO

Linda Kahn brings a “wealth of humanity and exuberant joy” to the stage, as recently noted by Stephen Mosher (Broadway World). She is an active and vibrant member of the New York City cabaret community, headlining sold-out shows across renowned venues like The Triad. Trained by such masters as David Friedman, Lina Koutrakos, Lennie Watts, Alix Korey, and others, Linda is known for her intimate and personal shows, striving above all to connect to audiences and convey relatable stories.

She got her start in musicals before eventually working in television and theatre in Los Angeles. Linda’s latest show, a memoir about the power of giving in to life’s opportunities (called “Say Yes!”) has moved audiences and gotten strong reviews from Broadway World, Cabaret Scenes, Cabaret Hot Spot and A Woman About Town. To watch her perform is to reflect on your own life and decisions, and to forget yourself at the same time while floating in the music and power of Linda’s song.
